- Jose loses his phone at the beach. Patrick who was walking along the beach finds it & puts it in his pocket. Jose realizes that he lost his phone. Benny and Larry are now on the beach. Patrick is sitting by the water. When he gets up, he drops the cell phone. Benny who is just a child sees this and gives it back to Patrick. This makes Patrick do some thinking, and his conscience makes him call Jose to arrange a place for Patrick to return the phone. (88)
- Patrick, a young man, walking along a beach finds a mobile phone half-buried in the sand. He makes no effort to go through the phonebook to see if he can take steps to return it to its owner. In fact, he turns the power switch off, and places the device in his pocket. The owner of the phone, Jose, is with a friend, Ronald, in a restaurant when he realises he has lost the item. Ronald loans him his, but calls by Jose to the missing phone lead to the information that the phone is powered off. Meanwhile, back on the beach, Patrick sits on the sand. As he gets up to leave, the phone falls from his pocket. A child - Benny - finds it and chases him, assuming Patrick to be the rightful owner. It's clear Benny's honesty stirs something in Patrick, for he turns the phone back on, and as he does so, a call from Jose comes through, and the two agree to meet so Patrick can return the phone. The film concludes with a line from Mother Teresa of Calcutta, referring to how we can learn from the actions of others. (194)
- Larry is at the beach, sitting with Benny, his son. Meanwhile, Patrick is walking along the beach, and notices a mobile phone on the beach. He puts the phone in his pocket, and continues on his journey. Later on in the story, Jose realises that he has lost his phone, while he was talking to his friend, Ronald. Jose tries to call his own phone, but it has been switched off. In that time, Patrick has now also accidentally dropped Jose's phone which he found at the beach. Larry's son, Benny, finds the phone while playing football and returns the phone to Patrick. Patrick realises that he should do the right thing and return the phone, just like Benny has. He switches the phone on, and answers the call from Jose. He tells him where he is and returns the phone. (141)
- Patrick finds a phone on the beach and picks it up. He turns off the phone and puts it in his pocket. Ronald and Jose are drinking tea in a restaurant. Jose notices a Visa advert on one of the back pages of Jose's newspaper. He wants to ring the number on the advert but then realises his phone is missing. Jose uses

Ronald's phone and repeatedly tries to ring his own phone, but realises it is turned off. Benny and Larry are playing football on the beach and Patrick sits down nearby. When Patrick gets up again the phone he took falls out of his pocket without him realising. Benny notices the phone and runs to catch up with Patrick and he gives the phone back to him. Patrick, moved by Benny's act, looks at the phone and turns it back on. He answers one of Jose's calls and Jose is happy that he will get his phone back. The video ends with a quote from Mother Teresa which says "Some people come in our life as blessings, Some come in your life as lessons." (186)

- In this film, featuring a South Asian cast, the perspective follows Patrick, a young man who stumbles across a forgotten mobile as he walks along the beach. Meanwhile, two friends, Jose and Ronald, are sitting outside a cafe, where Jose stumbles across a advertisement for a Visa offer while reading the newspaper. When Jose reaches for his phone to respond to the advertisement, he discovers that he has misplaced it. Back on the beach, Patrick himself almost forgets the phone himself while playing soccer with Benny, a small boy. As he turns to depart, Benny helpfully returns the device to him. Perhaps touched by the boy's simple honesty, Patrick calls up Jose on the phone, and arranges to return the mobile to its rightful owner. (125)
